“ Aunt Janie, I know that Alex helped you and I don't know how but you and my mom are so strong and have helped us all everytime you can. I know that you, Gen, Rachel, big Jaime, Gabby and each of the boys including my Boy even Lil Phe are missing him like hurt unexplainable. May God comfort our broken hearts. I remember SO many funny memories of Alex. I always smile when I talk about him. Still do. I keep telling my kids that I've heard only the good die young and that Alex was a strong lil man that we will never forget. He was good. Everyone that was able to know Alex was blessed because he was beyond his young years, strong and a true leader that made us feel loved and important in this place we call life.

Alex may God take you to his eternal place in which you can be young, free, healthy and the leader you truly are and deserve to be forever, mijo!

I love you.

“ Alex, daddy, you are missed dearly 😭. You were like my first son but from other parents and you were a 1 yr old. I had an infant when I first met you and started living with you. Yet you were my first run through of what it was to take care of a kid who walked around as if you were the man of the house. From changing your diapers to feeding and bathing you to putting you in bed, I was well equipped for my little men who followed. Thank you Papi 🙏 When you started to say words you had this unique voice that both your parents tried to copy 😊. Neither could get it 😊. As we both grew, we became distanced in physical form but not in my 💜. I loved seeing you from afar but wished I could of been present on the daily. I'm thankful my boys knew of you and will always have you in their 💙 too. Enjoy LIVING next to our God and Lord Jesus Christ In the Kingdom.

“ Alex, me & your mama were pregnant at the same time; I had Junior & you came along 2 months later. I can clearly remember your distinct voice, even 18 years later. Sadly you've left behind many, many people who love you. My condolences to your family and friends you've left behind. You will be missed.
