“ Im one of the nurses that took care of "daddy" at Westview Manor in Mcgregor. I was straight out of nursing school when I met him and no one made me feel more at home than him and his wife and kids. Such a welcoming, warm hearted, caring family. Just wanted to share a little tip Mr Dillard taught me in that short time I knew him that might help some of yall. While buttoning up his shirt one day, starting at the top and working my way down, he stopped me real quick and said, "dont ya know youre supposed to button from the bottom up?" I replied,"well I guess girls do it that way bc we have 'things' to cover up" he stated, "youre covering up beauty!" as we laughed i told him i would never forget that lesson. Later that night I went home and told my mom about it and she replied, "you go tell him he aint fooling anyone, we all know that men start at the bottom so that they match the buttons up correctly. I told him the next morning and I dont think I had ever seen him laugh so much in the time I knew him. Guess its bc he was busted. A great man was lost but many memories still remain.##imported-begin##Amy Busby##imported-end##

“ Though I did not personally know Chester Dillard I have met and gotten to know his son David over the years...I can truly say that Chester raised a loving, caring, devoted and giving Son,Husband (to my good friend "Shelly"), Father and Son-in-Law, etc. You must have been a good man. You are and will be missed until we all meet again in Heaven. Peace be with you Chester.##imported-begin##BEVERLY A. ARNOLD##imported-end##

“ David, Glenda and Kay, I just wanted to let you know that I was thinking of you. I feel so blessed to have had the privilege of knowing your parents, and meeting each of you. They both were such sweet, loving people. I know they are rejoicing with our Lord in Heaven.To lose both parents so soon is such a sadness, but take comfort in knowing that they do not have to live their lives without the other. I am sure they are still with each of you, watching over you. May God be with each of you, and comfort you, as only his love can.##imported-begin##Cindy Wright##imported-end##
