“ I worked in HR with Chris at the Dallas VA Hospital. We only spoke a few times in passing; however, I always heard good things about him. It was obvious that he contributed a lot to his country, as a Marine and a federal employee. He definitely earned his place in the books. Thanks Chris, and God's speed to you!

“ When I met Chris I was managing Chubby's restaurant in Lancaster, Texas . He came in a few times a week, and all the waitress would fight for his table. I wanted to see what the commotion was all about , so I went over to his table to refill his coffee and when he looked up oh my gosh his beautiful baby blue eyes met mine and I just kept pouring his coffee not paying attention it went everywhere I was so embarrassed. So when ever he came in I would get so nervous, butterfly's and my hand's would shake it was funny . It was like I was a teenager again.

“ Rest in Peace Chris, I still remember when we lived on the Kennedy place you boys were small, the girls weren't even thought about at that time, we kids always took off walking when there was a gathering at the house, those are the times I remember, and going to your grandpa Dicks place and selling cider....Love you and keep watch over us all.
