Deborah is survived by her husband of over 50 years, David; her daughter, Monica Brimage; son, Damon Brimage and wife Brigitt; her mother, Jessie Mercer; her brother, Phil Crabtree and wife Donna; her sister, Kathy Crabtree; her daughter in law, Rachel Brimage; her grandchildren, Deborah Terrell and husband Joseph, Jessica Gage and husband Richard, Stephanie Stone, Lexi Brimage, Aidan Brimage, Jacie Brimage, Brailyn Brimage, Brenden Brimage, Ava Brimage, and Grayson Harris; her great-grandchildren, Bryson, Brayden, & Bayleigh Terrell, and Kelsey, Kaylyn, Mason, & Conner Gage, Bradlee Brimage and Blair Norbeck-Brimage; and host of extended family and friends.

Deborah was a stay at home mom. She had 3 children that she drove back and forth to school every day, to their sporting events, and attended all of their school functions. Once her 3 children graduated, got married, and began having children, she never missed one of her grandchildren's births. She was always wanting to keep her grandchildren. She loved those babies. After they grew up and started school, she was able to attend 8 of the 10 grandchildren's graduations. She also didn't miss one of her great-grandchildren's births. She loved watching children in her home and did that for a long time. She lived for her husband, children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and the rest of her family.

A memorial service for family and friends will be scheduled at a later date.
