“ When the twins were about 3 my Dad took us a large water fall. It was about 40' high & about 60' wide, & was located about 10 miles past the Texas border north of Denton. We would all float down the river as the bottom was made of limestone & was very slippery. Under the falls there was a huge rock under the falls & since it was to deep for the twins & I to get out to it my Dad would carry us out on his shoulders & put us on the rock. Scary but exciting!

“ My Dad built a 4 seat swing set in our bank yard. I learned how to take the swing to its highest level & bailout. I could also bailout backwards by going under the swing. I loved that swing set & was in it every day!

“ The twins and I loved to see our Dad coming home. We would run down the road to meet him & he would stop & let the twins get on the side boards under each door, & he let me climb up & ride on the fender & he would drive the rest of thr way to the house. Eehhaa!

“ My Dad taught me how to fish for Crappie on the Brazos River. We found a small water fall, about an 8 ' drop. Every time we dropped our bait into the river we caught a fish. In less than one hour we had caught 2 5 gallons bucket full, & they were all "keepers". What a blast!

My Dad started teaching me how to paint houses at the age of 5. He showed me how to "spot nails" first. Then he showed me how to use oil based paint to paint the inside of cabinets & the trim around the doors & windows. As I got taller he t haught me how to texture closets. By the time I was 16 I could do everything he could do. He left me with a strong work ethic.

“ One of the kindest, gentlest men I will ever know. He very thoughtfully made a wooden stool for me as a wedding gift and told me that he thought I could use it because I am short like his daughters. He knew exactly what he was talking about based on the amount of use that stool has seen over the last 16 years. Thank you, Mr. Ragland, for lifting me up literally, with a stool I will always treasure, and figuratively, with warm and friendly conversation over the years. Prayers for Kathy, Dan, Elton, Erika, and all of the Ragland family.
