“ I remember all the times at Thanksgiving sitting there at the house with the family eating and listening to all of Spanish being said wishing I knew if they were talking about me. Just a funny thoughts of it all and playing Loteria with her and when it came time for me to call the words out, well lets say more laughter came out with this Gringo Texan trying to speak Spanish. She loved doing puzzles and was one of the best puzzle makers or finishers out there. I tried throwing out some hard puzzles for her to do and thought she would be on it for weeks but she would finish them in record time. I also remember Magrande (Maria) last year saying prayers for me everyday twice a day for me to get better in my battle with cancer. I also remember how much she loved to garden and how she could work a hoe, She will never be far from my heart and soul and will remain in my memories for every. She truly touched me along with this amazing family I am apart of. I have so many memories with this family good and bad but the good out weighs the bad. Love you Magrande!!!

Magrande is spelt this way for a reason and those who know the reason know why...
