“ In 1964 I shared an apartment with Katherine's daughter, Nancye. When I first met Katherine, she and her husband accepted me like I was their own daughter. Although we were not in contact for many years, when I finally did see her again, it was like time had stood still for us. I loved this woman with all my heart, and I will miss her with all my heart. Rest in Peace, Katherine. We may just meet again some day and take up where we left off. I pray that you are sitting at the right hand of Jesus and are made whole again.

“ My Grandmother was someone I always looked up to. She loved me so much and spoiled me rotten as a little girl. I have so many fond memories of her. She was good hearted and gave what she had to anyone in need. The neighbors loved her...everyone loved her that knew her. She loved animals. She raised monkeys, lol. She always had fish. I spent hours watching them. She always had dogs and they were her babies. She always talked baby talk to them. I do the same too and I sound just like her. I think I got my love for animals from Granny. There was never a time that when I was at her house that we did not have something going on concerning an animal. As a little girl, I brought in snakes. We fed the squirrels. We fed the monkeys. We loved on the dogs. I watched the fish.

I spend the majority of my time as a little girl with my Granny and Papa. Their house has always been like home when I visited. She always had something sweet sitting in a bowl in the kitchen. All the good stuff. We always played some sort of game when I visited even when I was little bitty. She is the one who taught me solitaire and marbles. My love of games came from my Granny. I learned so much from her. She was my only granny because my Dad's Mom passed away early on. Now my Granny is in heaven with Papa and all her family. I can see them sitting around playing cards and laughing. I bet the reunion between Papa and Granny was glorious. She loved him so much. One day we will see her again and get our game on.

I love you so so much, Granny, and I miss you so very much. I wished I had spent more time with you the last few years.

“ *Mother,
I love you so much and already miss hearing your voice for your “check in call” to see what you were doing. You were such a sweet and loving Mother/Granny, that is until someone messed with one of yours, then you were a Mama Bear. I will miss our marble games and talking into the night when you came to Granbury for a few days. (Oh. And I don’t believe them when they say you cheated.....I know you were just very, Very lucky.) I will cherish the time we had and think of our family get-togethers often. I am so blessed to have had you for my Mother.*
