“ Makenzie and I really didn't know the real you but I know you were a good man. You loved grandma, your kids, grand kids, and great grand kids. I just wished Makenzie would have known you. You were a funny character and always made us laugh. We all love you and will miss you. One day we will all be with you again. I know that your with God now and pray that he watches over us. Grandma loves you so much. I have never seen somebody care for somebody else the way she did you. Love you.##imported-begin##Alexa Brown##imported-end##

“ Memories of Pat Lavon, as a boy he was in our home a lot. He was my brothers best friend. When they didn't have work to do they were together. If we missed a trip in to town and missed a show and serial that was on that week. He would tell us every detail, all that happened and we act it out.
