“ Christmas week, 1993
Christy Robbins had had Trevor a few weeks earlier and I had just had Chelsea a week ago. Pawpa had come over to bring Trevor and Chelsea each a pair of Christmas booties to wear. He was so proud of them and kept going on and on about how he went to buy them himself. He took them out of his pocket and started putting them on Chelsea and Trevors feet. Christy and I looked at eachother and didn't say a word! We let him do it and he said, "now they might be a little big but they will grow into them." When Pawpa left, we laughed thinking he thought they were booties to wear and they were actually miniature christmas stockings for decorations!! It was the sweetest thing, and he went and got them all by himself. We never told him they were decorations, we just kept them on their feet and went to his Na Na and Pawpa's house to celebrate Chelsea and Trevor's first christmas with the family.##imported-begin##Randi Valentine##imported-end##

“ When I lived on 5th street in Lancaster:

On any warm summer day, you can bet you would see Pawpa riding down the road on his big red tractor. He always had on his blue overalls and his ball cap sitting on top of his head. He always had a huge smile on his face and would wave to every neighbor as he went down the raod. He looked like he was in a parade, but he was really sitting on top of the world, loving that tractor!##imported-begin####imported-end##

“ During the summertime when it was hot, Daddy And Mother would load me and Ronny in the car and we would go down Lancaster Rd. to Oak Cliff to the A&W Root Beer stand for a frosted mug of ice cold Root Beer. It was like a Sonic atmosphere. You would sit in your car and the carhop would bring it out to you. They had these little mugs for kids and they would bring them out with the frost on the mugs. They were so good and Ronny and I thought we were all that drinking out of a Beer Mug! Those were the "good ole days."###imported-begin##Connie Valentine Stinson##imported-end##

“ As everyone knows, Daddy had his own language. Several years ago, a bunch of us went to Pancho's to eat. Well, you never knew what he was going to say! He decided he needed to get seconds on one of his favorite foods...so the waitress walked up and he said, "Would you bring me some more of that Godamolie"....meaning Guacomale. Everyone busted out laughing including the waitress!!###imported-begin##Connie Valentine Stinson##imported-end##

“ You will be dearly missed by all. I was so proud to be a part of your life and get to enjoy the hours that I did with you. I will never forget you meeting me outside the wedding and seeing me with my bouquet you said "Oh, how nice of you to bring me flowers". May your family find peace during this difficult time.
