

Valentina Stepanova

November 23, 1937 - October 31, 2015

Valentina Nikolaevna Stepanova, was born November 23, 1937 in Omsk, Russia.

She is survived by Her daughters Olga and Julia, two grandchildren Julia and Stacy, three nephews, and several cousins.

She had a difficult childhood because of the war years. She often told us about the hunger and suffering that she and her family endured.

When she finished high school, she got married and went to live in Omsk.

Her life changed in an incredible way when she started coming to America. She made six round trips and was so happy meeting new friends and seeing the ocean for the first time. Her trips to the Grand Canyon, Colorado, Big Bend, etc gave her an experience that she never dreamed that she would ever be able to have.

As a young child she had an eye injury that resulted in losing vision in one eye. In 2012 she had eye surgery which corrected the vision problem.

She was an incredibly positive person, with a wonderful sense of humor and ability to make friends. Relatives, acquaintances and friends remember her as an attentive, responsible, patient and very wise person. She was a loving and caring mother and grandmother and just an amazing woman. Valentina was loved for her personal charm, irony, great humour, ability to make friends, and wisdom.

We loved Her and will miss Her so much. She passed from this life peacefully on October 31, aged 78 in Duncanville, Texas surrounded by loving family and friends.

Funeral services at 11:00 AM Wednesday, November 4, 2015, at the Pavilion in Edgewood Cemetery.

“ I only met Valentina twice, but was impressed by her warm, friendly ways. And this was in spite of the language barrier (I speak absolutely no Russian.) Roughing it with the youngsters at J.B.'s birthday picnic at Joe Poole Lake, Linda and I had a great time gesturing and communicating with her through Olga, her daughter. She was a lovely active lady, gone much too soon.
